

I am an Occupational Therapist working part time for a not for profit, aged care provider. I note the required level of PII required and that there will be no exceptions - even if the work is voluntary. The level of cover required will significantly reduce the level of recruitment in workplaces such as mine for several reasons: including the part time nature of the work, the low level of pay, the capacity of services to cover the required PII. I do not believe it is in the interests of the profession in this sector to impose costs of such significant burden.

Thanks
